MEDIATORS WAIT FOR CARRANZA

Peace Hangs in Balance Until Mexican Shows His Hand

HOLDS KEY TO DOOR.

Rumors of Dissensions at Niagara Falls not Credited in Washington —Huerta to Have no Basis.

Niagara Falls, Ontario, June 11.—With the key to the door which may open the way toward peace in Mexico held by General Carranza, first chief of the constitutionalists, the A. B. C. mediators were still fumbling with the latch today, but with little apparent prospect of crossing the threshhold without the aid or approval of the rebel leader.

The United States has declared that it does not expect to enter into an agreement here which the constitutionalists may not accept. General Carranza would not recognize a provisional president who was not of strong constitutionalist sympathies, and a man he could trust.

The American delegates to the mediation conferences have therefore let it be known that this is the sort of man they expect to see named for the provisional presidency in the peace agreement. They are also prepared to insist upon constitutionalist domination in the provisional cabinet, the members of which shall share equal responsibility with the president in the conduct of affairs.

Washington, June 11.—Rumors of dissensions among the mediators at Niagara Falls which might endanger the final outcome meet with no response here. The Administration continues supremely confident that an agreement is certain. It expects that agreement to be along the lines insisted on by the United States.

This government insists that nothing shall be done at Niagara which will give Huerta a basis for the claim that his rule as Provisional President has been "O. K. d" by the United States. The real reason for this is not antipathy to Huerta but the fact that he entered into certain agreements as Provisional President which the United States considers were detrimental to the interests of the Mexican people.

John Redmond's indorsement of the nationalist volunteers has echoed throughout Ireland like a mighty bugle blast, and able-bodied men are rallying to the national standard in every part of the country, north as well as south. The prospect of fighting against the story campaign to defeat home rule has stirred popular sentiment to a high pitch of fervor and determination.

That Miss Ella G. Winter, whose body was found floating in Curtis Bay near Baltimore, last Monday morning, was not drowned was practically proven yesterday. Had she died of drowning, physicians declare, water would have been found in her lungs, even though they were in a badly decomposed condition.

RECEIPTS STILL ON THE INCREASE

Large Number of Contributions to Hospital Have Been Pledged.

LUNA PARK WILL AID.

Joint Meeting of Trustees of Institution and Executive Committee Will Be Held Monday Night.

While the increase in receipts to day did not show very much, still there are a large number of contributions that have been pledged, which have not come in and it is hoped that the results of the play at the Opera House tomorrow night will bring in a very large sum.

The tickets have been selling very rapidly and up to this morning over two thirds of the reserved seats had been taken. It would be well for those who intend to get reserved seats to apply at once at Warfield's Drug store or they may be disappointed as it is impossible to secure more reserved seats than is on the plat..

The thanks of the Committee are due to Mr Rich of the Washington-Virginia R. R. Co. for transportation for the Washington Dramatic Club from Washington to Alexandria tonight for a rehearsal at the Opera House and tomorrow night.

The management at Luna Park has notified the committee that, that organization will be glad to have them as visitors on any day during the summer or fall that they may select, and the entire receipts of that day will go to the hospital building fund. In addition to this prizes will be awarded for dancing and athletic games and the management offers $30 in cash to be added to any amount that the hospital committee may feel inclined to offer.

Owing to a meeting to be held in Washington next Monday night in regard to the road between Alexandria and Washington, a joint meeting of the Trustees of the hospital and the Executive Committee will not take place until Tuesday, the 16th

BOYS ABOUT THE DOCKS.

Youngster Fell Overboard Yesterday and Barely Escaped Drowning

Now that swimming time is on, the number of boys who hie themselves to the river front is increasing. Some can swim, but many smaller boys who follow the swimmers are unable to save themselves should they fall overboard.

It is often noticed that children of tender years, without older escorts, play about wharves, running and jumping at dangerous places.

One of this class fell overboard yesterday and a bystander had considerable difficulty in saving him from drowning.

Some parents may not know that their children loiter about the river front. The above should prove a warning to such.

STANDING ALL DAY IDLE.

Merchants Unable to Secure Laborers, Have Business Seriously Hampered.

For many years people conducting business on the river front have experienced great trouble in procuring help during the summer months.

A merchant who had hurried orders to fill this morning, started out to procure seven men, but he was compelled to return without any.

He states that at that time a number of white, colored men had sought shady places which they were loth to leave. They gave various excuses for declining the merchant's solicitations

Some time ago, it will be remembered, the members of the Chamber of Commerce of this city had their attention called to these conditions, and that organization adopted a resolution calling upon the authorities to enforce the vagrant act.

DAUGHTERS OF LIBERTY.

Friendship Council Will Celebrate Anniversary Tomorrow Night.

Friendship Council, No 28, Daughters of Liberty, will celebrate their 17th anniversary on Friday night with a musical and literary program. James W. Jackson and Belle Haven Councils, J. O. U. A. M, have been invited to be present, also Hope Council, No. 1, D of L., of Washington, D. C.

Several distinguished notables of the order are expected to be present. The hall has been very astefully decorated for the occasion, and the event will be a reunion of the champions of the Bible and Flag and the public school system.

SUNDAY BALL GAMES.

Cardinals Decide to Play all Sunday Games in This City.

The manager of the Cardinal Athletic Club has received a large number of requests from the fans to play all the games at the local park instead of going out of town, and as the team wishes to do as they desire, they will cancel the game for the coming Sunday and all other out-of-town games.

The club appreciates the patronage which they are now receiving from the public and on the coming Sunday they will play the strong Columbia A. C. of Washington at the local park instead of going to Fort Washington, Md. All Sunday games will start at 2:30 p. m.

DROPPED DEAD ON ROAD.

David Walter Foster, fifty years old, a resident of Franconia, Fairfax county, dropped dead on the road between his house and Annandale at 11 o' clock last night. Mr. Foster had been attending a picnic at the latter place and was returning home. The wheel of his buggy became loosened and he left the vehicle to fix it when he fell in the road, dying immediately. Heart disease is given as the cause.

$3,000,000 TO BE SPENT IN STATE

Senators Martin and Swanson After Dry Dock For Norfolk

HOUSE WILL AGREE.

Growth of City by the Sea—one-half of Ships Docked on Atlantic Coast Go to Virginia Port.

Washington, D. C., June 11—Senators Swanson and Martin have succeeded in their undertaking to put through the Senate a piece of legislation which will insure the expenditures of $3,000,000 of government money in the state of Virginia.

In the naval appropriation bill, which is now in the hands of the conferees preparatory to becoming a law there is this Senate amendment.

"For new dry dock at Norfolk Navy Yard, Norfolk Virginia, (to cost $3,000,000.) $200,000".

This means that, if the conferees on the part of the House agree to the contention of the Senate conferees, the naval appropriation bill will authorize the expenditure between now and next December of $200,000 for building the dry dock, the understanding being that, from time to time as the money is needed, additional appropriations will be made by Congress until the total of $3,000,000 is expended in completing the dry dock. Senator Swanson offered this amendment to the bill on the floor of the Senate, and he and Senator Martin after a long debate and because of their personal influence in the Senate, succeeded in having it retained in the bill. They are confident that the House will agree to the proposition.

In discussing the matter on the floor of the Senate, Senator Swanson said:

"Neary one-half of all the ships that are docked on the Atlantic coast are docked at Norfolk. To be accurate about fifty per cent. The statistics will show that; and it is impossible on the Atlantic coast, with the present inadequate docking facilities, for docking to be made with sufficient rapidity. If an injury happens to a battleship, there is only one dock where it can be docked at present, and that is in New York.

"When the Arkansas was injured, it took nearly three months before she could be released from dock, and consequently if anything should happen to a number of ships, or if any emergency should arise, unless there was another dock to repair ships we would be almost helpless. The Department has made an estimate as to what the new dry dock will cost, the ultimate cost to be $3,000,000."

The securing of this appropriation for the Norfolk navy yard, when it was desired and eagerly sought by so many other navy yards, is the result of a tremendous amount of work that has been done by the Virginia Senators. When Mr. Swanson offered his amendment on the floor of the Senate, it was backed up by recommendations from the Navy Department and by the most explicit statements and figures showing the absolute need for the appropriation. He and Senator Martin, before the amendment was submitted, took the trouble to assure themselves that a sufficient number of votes could be had to put the proposition into the bill.

SUFFRAGETTES ARE OUTWITTED

Sylvia Pankhurst Arrested and Carried to Lockup on Litter

OTHERS GO TO JAIL.

Planned Call on Premier Asquith Is Frustrated—Great Excitement in London Streets.

London, June 11.—Suffragettes today exploded a bomb under the coronation chair in Westminister Abbey.

It is reported that the historic stone of Scone was chipped, but that otherwise no serious damage was wrought.

London, June 11.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst was not permitted to approach Westminster last night, to interview Premier Asquith. The proposed visit to the Prime Minister was arranged for several days ago by Miss Pankhurst and other militant leaders, and it was decided last night that she should be carried shoulder high in the procession, as she was not considered strong enough to bear the strain of what promised to be an arduous journey. Before the procession had gone a mile Miss Pankhurst was arrested for the eighth time since she was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, for inciting language in Hyde Park, and conveyed to Holloway jail.

The procession struggled on without a leader, but by the time it reached the Strand, it had been dispersed by the police. Under the leadership of George Lansbury, former Socialist, member of the House of Commons, a deputation of women proceeded to Parliament, where they were received by P. H. Illingworth, the chief Liberal whip, after having been rebuffed in all attempts to see the Premier.

The general strike was extended to Naples yesterday and all work at the port was suspended.

LIBRARY IS GROWING

Increase in Number of Books Crowd Shelves of Alexandria Library.

The Alexandria Library Association held its regular summer meeting at 700 Duke street, Tuesday morning The official reports were most encouraging to the board of management, and show the membership of the library increasing. While the books purchased and put in circulation are rapidly outgrowing the present quarters of the library, thereby confronting the management with the problem of extra shelving for the rapidly increasing stock of books. During the months of April and May, 1,340 were put in circulation, these figures not including the magazines and books used by the patrons of the free reading rooms in connection with the subscription department of the library.

One of the recent books added to the juvenile department is "The Boy's Camp Book," by Edward Cave. This book will prove of much interest and value to the Boy Scouts of Alexandria who contemplate a camping trip this summer. This book contains everything necessary as to outfit and conduct of camp life, and can be read in the free reading department upon application to the librarian, Miss Green. Also in the reading room are many of the best current magazines including Puck, Judge and Life.

The privileges of the reading room are absolutely free, and the librarian will be glad to welcome all who may desire to take advantages of the opportunity thus afforded. The library is quartered in the second story of Lee Camp Hall, and the hours are Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, 9:30 to 11:30 a. m.

Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 7.30 to 9:30 p. m.

POLITICAL INCIDENT OF ALEXANDRIA.

That too much confidence is often manifested by parties in power when their supporters remain away from polls on election days is occasionally alluded to. About three-fourths of the democratic voters of the city neglected to avail themselves of the privilege of casting their ballots on Tuesday simply because there was no opposition to the democratic candidates nominated a short time ago at a primary election..

While at the present day there is no fear of sudden surprises from political enemies, as all candidates are compelled to announce their purpose to enter the field some time before election days, the action of democrats Tuesday brings to mind an interesting and laughable chapter in the political history of Alexandria by which over-confidence caused the defeat of the dominant party.

Far back in our history the whigs formed a majority of the voters, and the democrats invariably came put second best in all political conflicts. While in reality the latter were followers of the doctrines of Thomas Jefferson, there were known in Alexandria as locofocos, the name of a brand of matches used at that time. The name implied that they were red hot.

In those days the election for municipal officers took place on the first Monday in March, and the first Monday in March, 1849, fell upon the day Zachary Taylor was inaugurated President of the United States.

The whigs had nominated Joseph Exches for the Mayoralty, and he supposed he had a walkover, as did also his friends. While the latter were basking in this assurance the locofocos were at work on a gum shoe crusade. They knew that many whigs were bent upon going to Washington that day for the purpose of witnessing the induction into office of the new President.

There were four whigs in the field, and it was not supposed the democrats would have a candidate.

But the democrats had determined to spring a candidate upon their enemies at a time when the whig force was depleted; so they prevailed up on Isaac Buckingham, a well-known tobacconist of this city who conducted a factory at the northwest corner of Prince and Union streets, to become their candidate.

Their purpose was kept quiet until early in the afternoon of election day when the entire strength of the party was mustered in the support of Buckingham. In those days there was, of course no telephone service between this city and Washington, nor was there a railroad, and the only means of communication between the two cities was by a slow ferry boat known as the Joe Johnson, which consumed much time in making a trip. She was a woodburner and was wrecked at what is now Agnew's shipyard in 1851 or 1852.

While many of the rank and file of the whigs were regaling themselves in the capital city their political wigwam was burning in Alexandria.

They returned to their homes at the close of the day to experience a rude awakening. Buckingham had been elected through their apathy.

The vote showed that Buckingham had received 181 votes, Esches 172, A. C. Harmon 149, T. C. Baird 64, and Jesse Ramsay 17.

The saying "Look out for the Buckingham trick!" had its origin in this incident.

PEOPLE CANNOT STAND MORE TAXATION.

The remarks made by Councilman Charles B. Marshall in reference to taxation at the meeting of the Council Tuesday night will appeal to the great majority of the people in the city. He stated that the point had been reached where the people cannot stand any further taxation and that as long as he remains in Council he would vote against any further increases in taxes. Instances were pointed out by him of large sums of money that was leaving the state because of excessive taxation. Mr. Marshall is right in his conclusions. The burden has already assumed such proportions as to cause serious inconvenience to those who have property interests.

SMALL SUM NEEDED FOR PLAYGROUNDS.

Only a few hundred dollars are needed by the Parents-Teachers Association to equip the Washington school grounds so that they can be used by the children this summer. A committee has been appointed and will endeavor to raise the money within the next few days. Alexandrians have been taxed heavily for public enterprises this spring but a few dollars more will certainly do a great deal of good to the children who are unable to leave the city for a vacation. It is hoped that the ladies will be successful in their efforts to raise the funds.

RAILROADS NOT LIABLE.

Atlantic Coast Line Will Not be Compelled to Pay for Diamonds.

Richmond, June 11.—In an opinion handed down Tuesday Circuit Judge Pritchard in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, the District Court at Wilmington, N. C., was affirmed in the case of the United States of America, plaintiff in error, against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co., defendant in error.

Suit was instituted by the government against the railroad to recover the value of diamonds which were stolen from a mail car which had been wrecked and burned at Lucama, N. C. The court below held that the government could not recover and has now been upheld by the appellate tribunal.

The evidence in the case showed that the railroad had paid a fine of $500, imposed by the Postmaster-General, for the loss of the mail on the wrecked train, and that the owner of the diamonds had been reimbursed through an insurance company. Both courts held that immediately after the wreck the road used reasonable precaution to prevent the looting of the cars, and that it was not responsible for the theft of the gems.

It was also shown that a long period elapsed after the payment of the fine assessed by the Postoffice Department and the institution of the suit.

PAPERS RETURNED.

Lossing Estate at Yonkers Gives up Historical Documents.

New York, June 11.—After protracted negotiations, the State of Virginia has effected a compromise with Mrs. Helen Lossing Johnson, of Yonkers, the administratrix of the estate of the late Benson J. Lossing, historian, author and artist.

Dr. H. R. McIlwaine, when he left here for Richmond, Va., last night, carried with him historical letters and documents which he values at from $5,000 to $7,000, including letters of Washington and Fafayette, and in return, Virginia, through him, her State librarian, has agreed to abandon all of its other claims against the Lossing collection.

When in May, 1912, a public sale of the collection was announced, Virginia promptly gave notice that many of the papers advertised belonged to it, had been taken from Virginia unlawfully, and should be returned.

A local car on the Mount Vernon line became derailed late yesterday evening occasioning a delay of about half an hour.

BENT ON VENGEANCE.

Members of John Gilley's Family Seek his Slayer, Who is Now in Jail.

Danville, Va., June 11.—Jesse E. Booth 30 years old, was beating his wife Sunday morning in his home at Aiken Summit, when the woman's father, John Gilley, living not far distant, heard her cries and went over to Booths home severely upbraiding his son-in-law, telling him that if he could not let his wife alone to send her home.

Booth, furiously angry seized a shotgun and shot and killed his father-in-law. As soon as the male members of the Gilley family heard of the murder they armed themselves and, banding together, began a search for the slayer, swearing they would shoot him to pieces, but Booth managed to get away and, dusty and travel stained, he walked into the courthouse here early Monday morning and gave himself up. He said he feared death and wanted to be locked up.
